Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

We do wish Alf Landon had been a bit more specific in his acceptance speech. It was a good talw. It "listened well." But somehow or another it was too remindful of the kind of talks President Roosevelt gave when he was a candidate for the job of being head man to 125-million people. If memory serves, the only thing Franklin Delano Roosevelt gave the good public in the way of "brass tacks" was a scheme for reforestation. He also talked warmingly about the "forgotten man," meaning as it turned out, the unemployed man.

Landon said in effect that relief must go on. But he did not say in what way he would administer it. A very large proportion of people would like to know just how he proposes to administer relief. Nobody really quarrels with the idea of keeping the peoule from going hungry. But there are different ways of preventing it. We would like to know what Landon has in mind. The present system, wasteful, and to a large extent haphazard, hampers recovery. The government jobs are just good enough to keep a large number of men from going after anything better in private employment.

When the State of New Jersey was asked to match a certain number of dollars with Federal money for relief a few months ago, the legislature refused and turned the whole matter of relief over to the counties. The money expended by the counties is a good deal less than was formerly expended under Federal supervision.

The WPA administration has been making a survey of the job New Jersey counties and municipalities is doing in relief, and quite naturally the surveyors find a lot of fault with it. Some of the criticism is no doubt merited. Families do not get anything like the relief money they formerly received. They must be residents of wherever they apply for relief, anywhere from two to five years. Nobody is starving but it seems quite certain that a good many are living on a less than subsistence diet. But in the meantime a lot of those who formerly labored at leaf raking and other boondoggling jobs, have gotten jobs for themselves. The list of unemployed in New Jersey has taken a big drop. Part of this of course, is due to seasonal activities that absorb a great deal of unskilled and semi-skilled labor. But of part of it is due to New Jersey's system of compelling boondogglers to get out and scratch, However, it is too early to come to any conclusion regarding New Jersey's drastic short cut to speedy recovery. November may present a truer picture.

Probably Landon does not realize yet that, to be elected, he has got to be specific about the things he proposes to do, if elected. It is no walkover that confronts the Republican standard bearer. Every vote in this battle of the ballots is worth something. Roosevelt could afford to be vague and indefinite during his campaign four years ago. Hoover was beaten before he started. John Smith of Higgin's Corner could have beaten him. Roosevelt sensed that and accordingly confined his promises to remembering the forgotten man and to planting more trees. As a matter of fact he has not kept these promises very well. His reforestation plans have not worked out very well, and as for the forgotten man, it all depends on which one you mean.

The small tax payer, the small stock holder, or bond holder, the little man who has clung to his job through thick and thin, depression or no depression, is now the forgotten man. The Roosevelt administration has loaded the unemployed on the backs of the taxpayer. And now, while that may have been the only method of dealing with unemployment in the depths of the depression, your small taxpayer, the newly forgotten man, is demanding that he shall have something to say about how the money is spent and for whom. For "three long years" this right has been denied him. If Roosevelt is defeated it will be because in remembering "the forgotten man", he forgot the man who pays the bill.

TWO COWS KILLED AND MOTOR CAR DAMAGED

Charles W. Leiter of the Nevada City garage and a friend who had been on a trip out on the Tahoe-Ukiah highway east of Nevada City Friday evening miraculously escaped seripus injury when upon his return after dark his car came upon a group of ten cows meandering stolidly up the middle of the road near the home of Harry McKee. Before Mr. Leiter could bring his car to a stop it had run into the animals. Two of the cows had to be killed. This is the second accident with cattle on this highway within the last few days and while it has cost considerable to repair cars luckily no one was injured. In the first case a young cow had to be killed and this time it was two.

TWO HOMES IN GOLD FLAT BURN

The beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs Ed Granholm and the almost completed new home of their son, Mr. Herbert Granholm, and wife to the north, on Gold Flat burned to the ground Sunday forenoon. One truck from the Nevada City fire department and one from Grass Valley responded to a call and volunteers assisted in carrying a part of the household belongings to safety. The fire had made too great headway to save the buildings. A grove of fine old elm and oak trees about the first house caught fire and for a time it was feared the blaze would spread from a leaning tree to the big cattle barn, milk house and other outbuildings. Pat Courser, son-in-law of Mr. Ed Granhalm, received a burned arm in taking furniture out of the house.

The Nevada City fire department was called a second time when the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Leonard caught fire from sparks from the Granholm blaze.

NEW AUTO COURT IS NEARLY COMPLETED

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Malcolm, who came to Nevada City about four months ago from Montana, purchased a tract of land from W. H. Daniels on the Tahoe-Ukiah highway just north of Nevada City. Malcolm has practically completed six new modern cottages and adjoining garages for an auto court. As soon as completed the large yard will be planted to lawn and then Malcolm will start construction of a new home.

DRUNKEN DRIVER TO PAY $50 FINE

Municipol Judge Miles Coughlin on Saturday rendered the following verdict:

The defendant in this case pleaded guilty to reckless driving. The evidence shows he was somewhat intoxicated at the time of the driving. He drove his automobile up Commercial street on the wrong side of the street, bumped into a parked car, veered in onto the sidewalk, dislocated a few bricks from the wall of a building, and ended up against a service pole of the Telephone Company.

The defendant is married, has children, works on WPA or PWA and is building a home. It is true that dependants often suffer more than the principals in these sort of cases but to let defendants escape punishment because they have families would be, in effect, to give somewhat of a license to husbands and fathers to commit these crimes if they are to be excused thereby. Men should think of their families before as well as after their bacchantic escapedes.

The court observes that it is most important to protect and insure the safety of all men, women and children on the public streets and highways. Instead of bumping into the parked automobile and knocking a few bricks from a wall, this defendant might have struck down some innocent child or pedestrian while driving as he did. No leniency is going to be shown to reckless or intoxicated drivers in this court. However, by the judgment in this case, an opportunity will be given the defendant to support and protect his family and at the same time he will be impressed with the fact that his offense was serious,

Judgment will therefore be entered as follows:

WHEREFORE, it is by the Court ordered and adjudged that the said defendant. E. H. Burgan, is guilty of the crime of reckless driving, a violation of Section 505a of the California Vehicle Code, and that for said offense said defendant be imprisoned for the term of thirty days and pay a fine in the sum of fifty ($50.00) dollars. It is further ordered that defendant's operator's license be suspended for a period of thirty days. It is ordered that the fine may be paid in installments as follows:

The sum of $10 on or before August 1, 1936.

The sum of $10 on or before September 1, 1936.

The sum of $10 on or before October 1, 1936 .

The sum of $10 on or before November 1, 1936.

The sum of $10 on or before December 1, 1936.

It is further ordered that the jail sentence will be suspended pending payment of the fine. If the defendant makes the payments specified and commits no further breach of the law, the jail sentence will be revoked. Any failure to make the payments specified or any further violation of the law will be sufficient to immediately imprison the defendant.

Fire Near Rough And Ready Flares Again

The fire near Rough and Ready, which did so much damage over the week end, flared up again this noon. State Ranger W. F. Sharp this afternoon placed two crews in the field aggregating 100 men. The fire burned over 4500 acres of grass and timber land Sunday night, but this morning they thought they had it cornered, and practically out. The house and barn on the McNeil ranch unoccupied, were burned to the ground. Several hay fields were destroyed and much pasturage. The fire up till Saturday morning burned over 3,000 acres, and since that time, with new outbursts, it has run up another tally of 1500 acres, making the total approximately 4500.

The Wolf Creek fire is done. Before it was halted it had covered 850 acres. Sharp had 85 men on that fire and brought in 40 more before the blaze was stopped. The Division of Forestry assisted on the Wolf Creek fire. A state fire truck came from Davis. A fire truck also was loaned by the city of Auburn.

Rough and Ready for a time was threatened Saturday. Grass Valley sent a fire truck down to help in the battle.

GYPSY LONGING WINS; OFF GOES NUGGET WRITER

(By KATHERINE BRAITHWAITE)

Dear Editor: I suppose you think your faithful correspodent for the North San Juan Ridge is attending strictly to business and preparing copy for your golden Nugget. But you might as well know the truth, Boss. I am not working as you think. I am loafing. Loafing on you, myself, and the whole world.

These lovely summer days set the gypsy blood in my veins pounding against the souls of my feet. This phenomenon produced an incurable disease commonly called Itching Feet. The symptoms of this malady invariably cause the patient to lie awake of nights dreaming of strange highways, strange lands, and strange peoples. In about ten days the germ localizes and the sick one goes into a form of madness called Packing Up. This form of insanity will cause the afflicted one to give to his neighbors each and every article of his possessions that cannot be packed into an average touring car. Nor can he be persuaded to read anything but highway maps.

The mortality of this disease is very high. Railroad crossings, drunken drivers ,and front tire blow-outs cause untold deaths. Eminent physicians have named people who become inoculated with the travel germ, tourists. Each scientific mind suggests to the friends and relations that the only solution is to let them take their chances on the road and prescribes continuous change of scenery until the patient's fever has receded and he is ready to settle down for another winter.

Well, Boss, I have a bad case of the above mentioned disease. It is so severe I could not stay on the Ridge another day. I still had enough sanity left to ask capable Mrs. Frank Farnsworth of Freemans Crossing to attend to my duties until you returned from your vacation. If you must fire one of us when you get back, for goodness sake, give me the blue envolepe. Something tells me I am forever branded as an incurable wanderer.

But honestly now, Boss, how can I be expected to stay put in one place very long at a time when there are so many wonderful things to see in our very marvelous, very glorious world?

The first place we visited, for instance, was that mysterious silent sea that the present tribe of men refer to as Crater Lake. A great blue, lake, Boss, right smack dab in the middle of an old volcanic mountain. Boy, to look at it made my mind go jiggering back to the time when you were a tadpole and I a fish.

And just for contrast we circled that Queen of the Mountains Mount Shasta. Her brow is perpetually crowned with snow and her royal court is in the realm of glittering stars. She rules over age-old glaciers and knows from which mysterious source rises the magnificent Sacramento river.

And don't you ever think the Sierras have all the beauty in the world, Boss. I am telling you the Cascade Mountains are well named. From Portland, Oregon, we rode for miles along a smooth scientific highway with the gliding silvery Columbia river on one side and on the other great evergreen clad cliffs thousands of feet high. And over these great precipices (how's that for spelling) tumble long slender cascades that fall in a bridal gown of foamy lace and sparkling diamonds at the edge of the highway.

Then up in Idaho, just out of Spokane, Washington, your correspondent thought she saw great volumes of black smoke on the far horizons. My guess was wrong! I was dust! The farmers in that state plowing up the black soil to prepare it for the planting. Potatoes, I suppose.

I know all about grain too, Boss. I thought rolled oats came out of pasteboard boxes. But now I know they come from the rolling country between Pendelton and Spokane. And I'm not losing any sleep about the price of bread going up in America. I saw too many acres of wheat all ready to burst into flour (if you know what I mean) on the plains of Oregon and Washington.

Someone told me you went up to Vancouver, B. C. on your vacation. I hope you did, Boss. And I further hope you sailed on the Princess Elaine or the Princess Charlotte to Vancouver Island. I sailed on the Princess Elaine. Car, dog, and all. At Port Nanaimo, we began a seventy mile drive to Victoria. a bit of old England. "Fly with the birds to Victoria," is the theme song of Canada this season. And when we took the ferry for Port Angeles the great white sea gulls gracefully followed us in flocks. Always I will think of white wings against the blue waters of Juan de Fuca straits when I think of romantic Vancouver Island.

Just now we are camped in the evergreens in Rainier National Park. Maybe I should be up on the Ridge turning out copy for the county seat newspaper. But personally Boss, I'd rather be sitting here by my big camp fire eating speckled trout with my fingers and throwing the bones in the fire to watch them sizzle.

Come up and see me, sometime.

CHROME DEPOSIT BECAUSE OF BAD ROAD ABANDONED

W. C. Bybee and John Melhase from the office of state mineralogist and Harold Soper, were recent visitors in Washington. They inspected the Red Ledge mine where there is a rich deposit of chrome ore in which they were interested. The ore also carried gold. The Red Ledge mine produced many tons of chrome during the World War. When reduced this ore makes the metallic red brown paint used on roofs and buildings. This lasts many years. The lower shaft at the Spanish mine north of Washington also carries a large amount of this ore and many tons were sold until recent years when new discoveries easier of access made the ore at Washington owing to the bad roads and trucking difficulties, too expensive to mill.

Messers. L. C. Linton and A. B. Hanold of Sacramento visited with friends in Nevada City this week. They are engaged in painting the large Coco Cola signs throughout Nevada county. Mr. Fred Sauvee of this city made a trip to San Juan, Camptonville, Downieville and Sierra City with them, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams and Mr. and Mrs. John Pizanni spent Sunday fishing on Ice Lakes near Sado Springs. They brought home a nice lot of fish.

Japan And The Spies

(Contributed)

How any American can betray his country's confidential naval or military information to the paid spy of a foreign nation is a little too much for most of us to understand.

The logic of it is plain enough. Unprincipled or embittered men who though still Americans in name, have ceased to be in spirit simply cash in on an opportunity to make what looks like "easy money." But there is in most people, deeper than logic, something that cannot comprehend.

One ex-gob who betrayed his country for thirty pieces of Japanese silver was tossed in prison less than a month ago. Now an ex-officer awaits trial on a similar charge. And a "spy hunt" of proportions unprecedented since the war is under way in the United States.

Today every nation is carrying on some sort of espionage in other countries. America does least of it, our agents being scarcely more than legal observers. Japan does more spying than any other two countries, and is overly "spy conscious" at home. Any foreigner on a pleasure tour over there, if he happens to have a camera, is regarded with great suspicion.

Peace time espionage, however, is highly overrated. And while Japan's is probably as effective as anyone else's, much of theirs is sheer burlesque. Nippon fishing boats off the coast of California may be busy making maps and charts, but for a few cents they could buy better ones made by our own government in geodetic surveys.

There is little to worry about as to actual damage done by foreign spys or native betrayers within this country. The unpleasant thing is to have to admit that there are American Judases. But we can remember that, after all, inspirit they are really not Americans.

Long Live The King

(Contributed)

Britain is still jittering about the calamity that almost happened when a crack-brained "protester" tried to assassinate King Edward.

Fortunately it turned out that he was just protesting about things in general, and not acting for any organized band of terrorists. England has remained astonishingly free of the brand of violence now flourishing in the rest of Europe. Should she not continue so, it would be the worse for Democracy in the world.

Kings of England, even though they must display themselves so often and so openly at the heads of processions and in various observances, have been safer even than our vigilantly guarded presidents. Lincoln, Garfield, and McKinley were assassinated. Theodore Roosevelt was shot at on two occasions. Mayor Cermack of Chicago was killed by a bullet intended for Franklin Roosevelt shortly before his inauguration.

The world rejoices that King Edward escaped and that the attempt on his life did not indicate the advent of organized terrorism in Britain.

JUNE GAS SALES ALL TIME HIGH

SACRAMENTO, July 27—Closing the fiscal year with a continuance of the gain in gasoline taxes which has prevailed during the entire period, California motor vehicle fuel tax assessments for June reached a total of $4,162,510.27.

"An all time high has been recorded in the gasoline taxes for the year ended June 30, 1936," says the report. "During the past twelve months there have been taxable distributions of 1,577,359,735 gallons of motor vehicle fuel, bringing the State a revenue of $46,847,585.42."

"In comparison there was 1,344,179,194 gallons of gasoline taxed during the year ending June 30 1935, resulting in State revenue of $39,922,123.33. Thus in one year alone there has been an increase in the yield from the gasoline tax of $6,925,462.09."

Comparing the tax for last month with that of June a year ago, it is pointed out that there had been an increase of 11,420,296.5 gallons in taxable distribution, resulting in $339,182.83 additional taxes, or a gain of 8.87 per cent.

Harley Leete Jr., and Bob Straub spent the week end at Tahoe.

LIQUOR SALES IN JUNE AT PEAK

SACRAMENTO, July 27—Breaking all previous records, the California excise tax on beer and wine reached a total of $212,745.43 for the month of June

"This is the first time that the beverage tax for a single month has exceeded $200,000," said the report. "The largest previous montly figure was for August of last year, when the total was $193,769.60."

"Seasonal fluctuations in beer consumption have accounted for summer gains in the revenue from the State tax of two cents a gallon on such beverages but the large increase recorded in assessments for last month surpasses anything previously observed."

Comparing taxable beer sales for June with those of the same month in 1935, it was pointed out that there has been a gain of more than 2,300,000 gallons, representing an increase in tax of $46,000, or 33.4 per cent.

SCOUTS THIRD WEEK IN CAMP

The third week of scout camp at Pahatsi started last week with larger number of scouts in camp than either of the two previous weeks, making a total of 73 in camp. Early Monday morning five older scouts left with Mr. Beecher, hike leader, on a five day hike through the Royal Gorge of the American river. This year they started at Big Bend Ranger Station and are going all the way through the gorge returning to camp on Friday. Each year they have found excellent fishing there.

Last Saturday afternoon at color ceremony a Court of Honor was held for the awarding of advancements earned during the week at camp. Twenty two scouts appeared for the merit badges, five more than the week previous. Jim McConnel, Gerd Tobias and Duane Morrill of Grass Valley received their tenderfoot badges, Jerry O'Neil of Nevada City was awarded his second class badge and Kenneth Ricksecker of Auburn received rank of first class. Harris Paxton received star award and Forrest Rupley and Wayne Madeley life rank.

During the past week three early bird hikes were conducted by Bob Robinson the nature man. A class of 15 worked on their botany merit badge. Star gazing classes were held several nights after campfire for those who worked on their first class test passing. A nature treasure hunt was held one afternoon and nature games were conducted at campfires in the evening. Five scouts completed their life saving requirements for merit badges. Three beginners made progress in their iwsmming ability.

Special activities that happened during the week were nature treasure hunt, troop overnight hikes to Lola Montez lakes and Mt Lincoln, scout day with a scout running camp program, baseball games between troops and between staff and scouts, first aid instruction, tribe of Pahatsi, honor organization of camp meeting on Tribe Island, water pageant and sports, amateur hour at campfire, boating, fishing and scout games.

Last Tuesday evening after campfire the scouts went down to the railroad tracks just below camp and saw the new S. P. streamline train go by. It passed camp at 8:45 p. m. Approximately 150 visitors were in camp during the day Sunday. The total number of scouts attending camp this year is almost 10 per cent more than last years enrollment.

ALL-TIME HIGH IN ACME BEER SALES IN CALIF.

The output of the Acme Breweries in June reached an all-time high for western beer sales, according to Karl F. Schuster, president, who stated that 1,551,131 gallons of Acme Beer were sold. Of this amount 1,249,829 gallons of Acme Beer were sold in the state of California, breaking all records for previous California sales since prohibition and undoubtedly for all time. Schuster gives full credit to newspaper advertising as being a powerful force in boosting Acme Beer sales since newspapers have been used continuously since repeal by this company.

AUDITIONS ARE BEGUN IN STATE FAIR CONTEST

With the preliminary auditions in the California State Fair's massive statewide Amateur Contest now starting in scores of California theatres, amateurs were urged today to "file the applications at once, and avoid the possibility of disappointment."

In Grass Valley, the preliminary contest will start next week at the Strand Theatre, and will be held one night each week for six weeks, with the winners being chosen to represent their home city in the finals of the state-wide talent quest at the California State Fair in Sacramento, September 5 to 14.

The contest is open to any person over 16 years of age who can sing, dance, give impersonations, play any instrument or perform in any manner, whether comedy or drama, provided they are bona-fide amateurs who have never been employed as professional enterta'ners.

A free trip to the colorful California State Fair at Sacramento, with transportation provided over Pacific Greyhound Lines, and expenses, will be awarded winners in the preliminaries in each theatre, while prizes valued at thousands of dollars will be awarded winners of the finals at Sacramento.

These prizes include a round trip by airplane, over United Airlines, to Chicago and New York, as well as other round trip air voyages to such beautiful and historic cities as Salt Lake City, Reno, Vancouver and Los Angeles. A Sherman, Clay Company special model Chickering grand piano will be awarded the pianist winning highest honors at the Fair. Other prizes include 15 handsome $35 Tavannes wrist watches and a $20 bill to be presented each of the finalists in the campaign.

Representing the "greatest opportunity ever offered amateurs," the contest is being managed by a committee of the State Fair Board, headed by T. H. Ramsay, Red Bluff, chairman; Charles Sooy, Attorney, and John M. Perry, banker, both of San Francisco.

RISING SUN MINE

The shaft is cleared to the 90 foot level and crews are about ready to break through into old workings. Ten men are employed under Superintendent Thomas Coan at the Rising Sun mine.

Mrs. Caribeno Orzalli entertained a group of seventeen children at her pretty home on the Red Dog road Friday in honor of the third birthday of her little daughter, Anita May and the thirteenth birthday of her brother, Vernon Eichler. Several hours were spent in playing games and serving of dainty refreshments brought a happy afternoon to a close.

STATE OWNERSHIP OF ALL LAND IS SINGLE TAX AIM

(By RALPH H. TAYLOR)

"For every ailment, my friends, there's a remedy! But in this little bottle, for the ridiculous price of $1, there's a cure for every malady which affects you . . . In this bottle, you will find new life, new health, new happiness; In this bottle . . . "

With superb showmanship, plus a casual knowledge of "sick man's psychology," the old-time patent medicine man hawked his wares!

He found his victims on every street-corner—and usually sold them for ailing humanity is invariably credulous, invariably seeking a short cut to new health and new vitality.

The patent medicine man has gone, but "cure-alls" still abound.

Today, as an aftermath of economic distress, oppressive taxation and public uncertainty, there are "cure-alls" to the right and "cure-alls" to the left—"Single Tax," "Sales Tax Repeal," "Utopia," "Share the Wealth," and a hundred and one others. Some are well-intentioned, honestly offered, but ill-considered and poorly founded; others lack even an honest origin.

And California taxpayers, regardless of the fact that their tax bills are often excessive and burdensome, must subject proffered "cure-alls." to the most careful scrutiny—recognizing that "the cure may be worse than the disease" and that no magic pill can banish tax disorders which have developed over a long period of years.

The two-in-one Sales Tax Repeal —"Single Tax" Ast, which appears on the November ballot, undoubtedly takes front rank as the most dangerous panacea to be submitted to California voters this year—particularly from the standpoint of the farmer, the home-owner, or any common property taxpayer.

Stripped of its camouflage, this proposal is the old and discredited "Single Tax" Act—seven times defeated in California by overwhelming majorities—designed to destroy the private ownership of land and common property generally by the simple expedient of tax confiscation.

Masquerading as a sales tax repeal act in an attempt to trap the unwary voter, this act would abolish outright all forms of sales tax, liquor taxes and probably the truck and gas tax—transferring the entire burden to the land. In addition, it would reduce personal property taxes and taxes on improvements one-fifth each year until entirely abolished—again placing the burden on land.

During the first year, it is estimated by the state's fiscal authorities that the "Single Tax" proposal would add a minimum of $305,234,574 to taxes levied on California lands—with an average tax rate in the state of $11.25 per hundred dollars. By the second year, it is consevatively computed, the tax rate would soar to $32.20, and the third year to $80.50—rates which are plainly confiscatory and designed to bring about state ownership of all property.

The voter who might be tempted by sales tax repeal should remember, when he goes to the polls, that this is a clear-cut instance where "the cure is worse than the disease."

Whether the "cure-all" be The One-House Legislature, the "'Share the Wealth" plan, or any of the others which have achieved brief popularity, California voters should recognize the simple truth that there is no easy road to tax reform, or economic readjustment. "Tax repeal" proposals are not actually tax repeals at all; they merely provide for the substitution of one tax for another. To reduce taxes, there must be reduction in cost of government. And such reductions will come only as a result of intelligent citizenship, careful planning and budgeting, determined effort to eliminate non-essential services, and a public demand that government, like the individual live within its income.

CALIF. LUMBER HIT BY CANADA TRADE PACT

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—The pine lumber industry of California, which is producing more than a billion feet of pine this year, is seriously affected by the Roosevelt New Deal Canadian trade agreement cut of 50% on the duty of Canadian pine, which is directly competitive with the lumber industry of this state, California lumbermen declared here today.

"California pine industry cannot compete at a profit in mid-west and eastern markets with the Canadian pine being imported in this country under the New Deal reciprocal agreements," H. E. Crawford, district representative, Western Pine Association, San Francisco, asserted.

California's pine industry employs more than 15,000 men in handling the output of its billion feet, Crawford stated. The pine industry is concentrated in Siskiyou, Plumas, Lassen, Butte, El Dorado, Sierra, Merced, Fresno and Madera counties.

While California's redwood industry in Humboldt, Del Norte, Mendocino, Santa Cruz and other counties is supposed to be immune to the factors of the New Deal's Canadian reciprocity act, W. B. Greeley, secretary-manager, West Coast Lumbermen's Association, points out that excessive imports of fir, hemlock and pine adversely affect the redwood industry of the state. He says:

"All species of lumber offered for sale in a given market are to a great or small degree in compeition; softwoods against softwoods, hardwoods against hardwoods, and even softwoods against hardwoods. The determining factors in the sale usually are price and the preference of consumers for certain species.

"For this reason, all imported lumber is directly or indirectly in competition with all domestic lumber—the degree of competition varying according to situations, with no wood wholly invulnerable to competition.

"A principal competitor of redwood cut for certain uses, such as siding, is western red cedar, which is imported in quantity from British Columbia. Price compeition from Canadian producers of cedar frequently become a thorn in the side of American mills cutting the same species. Redwood mills, too, feel this competition. Redwood mills have been active in promoting the use of their wood in structural sizes and grades, in compeition with Douglas fir, West Coast hemlock and other American woods.

"Any development that makes it harder for American mills to sell their fir and hemlock also increases the selling difficulties of redwood mills. Redwood mills, therefore, are concerned with the importation of fir and hemlock, even if to a lesser extent than producers of these species."

Greeley points out that the lumber industry is to Northern California and the north Pacific Coast area what cotton is to the South or corn and wheat to the middle-west. It is the basic industry upon which all other industries largely depend, he added.

Considering how fine this railroad transportation is nowadays, you can't travel any cheaper. Fares lowest in history—substantial savings on round trip tickets. So why not take the train? It's safer. It's more dependable.

•

You can't beat the improved travel comfort in coaches and sleeping cars. It's a good thing movies don't have such restful seats—most folks would sure fall asleep.

•

Ever hear about the Free pick-up-and-delivery of less than carload freight? It's a great convenience to shippers and receivers alike. Western railroads pick up at the door, ship by fast freight, and deliver to consignee's door.

•

Railroad trains are running on faster schedules these days. Seems like the iron horse wants to show these new streamlined diesels that he can step out, too. Both passenger and freight schedules have been speeded up.

•

What's more, the railroads believe in "safety first." Last year not one passenger was killed in a train accident on western railroads.

•

Talk to your local railroad agent. He's full of information about traveling and shipping.

We are proud of railroad achievements, appreciate the public's good will and increased patronage, and pledge continued progress.

CAMPTONVILLE, July 27— A. A. Aldrich, mining claim operator at Pittsburg Hill, was arrested here Monday by Sheriff W. D. Johnson, of Downieville, on a warrant sworn to by Will Beggs of Oakland, owner of the Kate Hardy Mine, in which complaint Beggs charged grand theft, accusing Aldrich of carrying away certain personal property from the mine. Aldrich admitted possession of the goods, but claims that he took the goods on a settlement of a labor bill owed by Beggs. The matter will be heard in the Downieville Justice Court, August 5. Aldrich was brought before Judge Acton M. Cleveland, and admitted to bail which he posted and maintained his liberty.

Camptonville Club Works for Library

CAMPTONVILLE, July 27—The Womens Club of Camptonville met at the home of Mrs. Constance Pfiffer on Spencer Street. The regular order of business was taken up, among which was a suggestion that a local library be established for the benefit of the local people, in as much as the prospects of a county library, which the club hoped for, seem poor. Many persons have books which they would donate and thus give a source of reading material available to those wishing the same.

The club had as visitors Postmaster Lydia O. Groves and Mrs. Olive Groves, the latter joining the Club. Following the regular business routine, Mrs. Pfiffer served watermelon, and a general enjoyable social evening was had. On Friday evening, July 24, a public card party will be held in the Masonic Hall to which everyone is cordially invited.

GOLDEN STATE SHOWS TO OPEN IN GRASS VALLEY

Residents of Nevada City will be treated to a traveling carnival attraction this week that comes to Grass Valley through the sponsorship of Hague-Thomas-Hegarty Post of the American Legion. This big attraction is known as the Golden State Shows and opens a six-day engagement at Veterans' Memorial building grounds starting next Wednesday evening, July 29th.

Officials of the local American Legion Post state the Golden State Shows have been in the carnival business for many years and present a show that is distinctly different from the average carnival attraction, having a reputation for giving good, clean performances that warrant a heavy patronage.

Golden State Shows carry a big circus sidesrow with strange people; Jollie Nellie, America's most beautiful fat girl, weighing 783 pounds, who is said to be an accomplished wood carver and has her works of art on display with her; the silodrome, with its speed demons; and the usual big athletic arena featuring well known boxers and wrestlers.

There are rides galore, the family auto scooters, a beautiful $10,000 merry-go-round, and the ever popular kiddies' automobile ride, a giant ferris wheel and scores of other features.

The show is transported on 42 huge 33-foot trucks and is said to be the monarch of the tent show world.

ALBERT PRATTI IS PAHATSI AID

Assistant Scout Master Albert Pratti returned Saturday evening from a three weeks stay at Camp Pahatsi where he was in charge of 60 Boy Scouts. This is his eighth year in camp and Albert stated it was the most pleasant. With a class of 15 he took a special course in nature study. Young Pratti and Harris Paxson of Grass Valley were the only two to win botany merit badges.

During the last week he took 45 Boy Scouts on a three day hike 18 miles from camp up over the second highest peak in Nevada county which has a height of 9,045 feet. In scaling cliffs up one side and down the other, three loops were tied in a 60 foot rope ad after Pratti and another boy had scaled the bluff the rope was let lown anr three smaller boys were pulled up. The snow had melted on the west side but there was plenty on the east side of the mountain, the drifts being fully nine feet in places. He states it was a hard hike, but marveled at the courage of the boys some being quite small. They never complained throughout the long trip. It was cool at camp during the whole vacation and sweaters were comfortable.

Boys from Nevada City at camp were Karl and Norman Kopp, Bill and John Muscardini, Bob Grant, Edward Angove and John Reamer.

The Gold Flat Thursday Club enjoyed another delightful afternoon in the grove of trees on the Joseph Day ranch on Gold Flat. A delicious luncheon was served and later in the afternoon many of the group went swimming, or enjoyed a social time.

JUST BEING SENTIMENTAL ABOUT ICE CUBES

We all like to think that our jobs are pretty important. Of course, I'm only a refrigerator and appliance salesman and I suppose that a lot of people take these labor-, time- and money-saving household conveniences for granted. They really are wonderful, though, when you come to think about it.

I guess there isn't much point to this ad except that I get a lot of satisfaction out of my job of providing folks with safe refrigerators — which make nice little ice cubes so helpful in "hot weather."

Just,

Bill Rumsey

He found Nordi Brothers whiskey on the licensed premises of J. G. Tuccori at Floriston, California. The whiskey did not have state excise stamps attached and cancelled. At that time Mr Farley obtained the warrant for Nordi Brothers or San Francisco. He has also asked the state board of equalization to recoke the license of Nordi Brothers. VISITS HOME AFTER 43 YEARS

Alf. Flagg stepped his foot from his car, and for the first time in 43 years gazed upon his old stamping ground, Camptonville, in the days of long ago.

Flagg was born at Indian Hill where the family resided, and where he attended school. His folks had the hotel there at that time. He left here many years ago and had never returned. He journeyed to his old birth place, and was disappointed to find nothing except one houes, forty three years absence making quite a difference. A fire a few years ago demolished most of the Indian Hill section.

Miners Should Re-elect Seawell To State Senate

California mining will doubtless face additional taxation proposals, including a revival of a severance tax, when the Legislature meets at Sacramento next January.

The time to prepare to defeat bad legislative proposals is when candidates for public office are attempting to be elected to office. All mining people should make a thorough study of the records of candidates as these records reveal what mining can expect.

Senators and Assemblymen who have served mining well should be returned to office as mining people can depend on them; that the mines' interest will be protected, and also Legislators who have supported mining deserve to be re-elected because of the service they have given.

One of the men who has served mining well is Jerrold L. Seawell, State Senator from the Seventh District, which includes the mining counties of Nevada, Placer and Sierra.

During his eight years of service in the Assembly and the Senate he has built up a long record of service to the mining industry.

Senator Jerrold L. Seawell

REDUCED COMPENSATION RATES

During this period he has consistently worked for reduction of compensation insurance rates, and was largely responsible for the reduction secured in 1933, the first in the history of California, which is saving the mining industry $500,000 annually.

The reduction and subsequent saving to mining were made without in any way lessening protection to mine workers. In fact, mine labor has benefited materially from lower compensation insurance rates, as savings effected have been re-invested in development work and opening new mines, which provide additional employment.

He vigorously opposed the so-called "silicosis surcharge" and was one of the powerful forces which prevented the proposed increase originally submitted, from becoming effective.

Passage of the Mining Segregation Bill through the State Senate was engineered by Mr Seawell. This law made possible the classification of mining operations as to compensation insurance rates. Re-classification of risk resulted in lower insurance rates. The most recent of these rate reductions is the re-classification of Dragline Dredging, which reduced the cost of compensation insurance from $9.15 to $6.60, a saving of approximately 30 per cent to Dragline Dredge operators of California.

HELPED DEFEAT SEVERANCE TAX

In 1935 he was one of the leaders who brought about the decisive defeat of the Severance Tax on gold proposal Mr. Seawell has pledged continued opposition to this measure should it ever again be introduced in the legislature.

When it was proposed to levy a 2 per cent State Sales Tax on gold, Mr. Seawell assisted in having gold exempted from the provision of the Sales Tax Law.

In 1933, he had enacted the Seawell Placer Mining District Bill which permits the organization of Placer Mining districts under lawful regulation, making possible the resumption of placer mining by the small operators as well as large ones.

He amended the Ore Buyers' Act so that small operators and prospectors could dispose of their gold to licensed ore buyers.

He was one of the leaders in passing the resolution to Congress and the President demanding an increase in the price of gold. Mining men have already realized great benefit from this new Federal regulation.

Senator Seawell's work in the interest of mining has been a vital factor in the stability and development of the industry, which has resulted in additional employment and better conditions for mine workers, and more profitable operations for mine operators.

On the basis of his record of services to miners and for the future protection of the mining industry, Senator Seawell should be returned to the Senate. Adv.
